The screenshot shows a window titled "Windows Software Development Kit - Windows 10.0.26624". The window contains a "License Agreement" section with the following text: "You must accept the terms of this agreement to continue. If you do not accept the Microsoft Software License Terms, click Decline." Below this is a scrollable area containing the "MICROSOFT SOFTWARE LICENSE TERMS" and "MICROSOFT WINDOWS SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT KIT (SDK) FOR WINDOWS 10". The terms state: "These license terms are an agreement between Microsoft Corporation (or based on where you live, one of its affiliates) and you. Please read them. They apply to the software named above, which includes the media on which you received it, if any. The terms also apply to any Microsoft" followed by a bulleted list: "updates," "supplements," "Internet-based services, and" "support services". Below the list, it says "for this software, unless other terms accompany those items. If so, those terms apply." and "By using the software, you accept these terms. If you do not accept them, do not use the software." At the bottom of the scrollable area, it says "As described below, using some features also operates as your consent to the transmission of certain standard computer information for Internet-based services." At the bottom of the window are three buttons: "Back", "Accept", and "Decline".
